FCA chief executive Sergio Marchionne has said he wants to refocus the business on providing a better service to customers through financial services, meaning fewer low-margin products. "We are just in the early stages of that change but it will take time to realise the benefits for the FCA of having more effective and more focused resources," he said. Marchionne added: "We are doing more in markets where we have a competitive advantage, and it is in our interest to protect the integrity of the marketplace and that requires all of us to do more work and work harder." Revenues dipped by 0.6% to £19.88bn for the nine months to December 31, but return on equity was 3.3%
